

Dorcie Kafka Dvarishkis lives in Missoula and is deployed at Holy Spirit Episcopal Church there.

Dorcie is a 30+ year nonprofit philanthropy professional and currently works as Executive Director with Foundation for Community Health. She and her husband, Mark, have two daughters, Alisa Dvarishkis and Katie Nederhoed, and a son-in-law, Bryce Nederhoed. Dorcie hails from the Hi-Line of Montana, where her older brother and sisters continue to be involved in agriculture and community vitality.

Her ministries include strengthening families/child abuse and neglect prevention, serving as a part of the Missoula Interfaith Collaborative to meet prioritized social challenges, supporting the Diocese in Native and Indigenous Ministries in Missoula, and participating in children's Christian Formation. Dorcie volunteers with The Parenting Place and the Missoula Child Sexual Abuse Prevention Team.

Dorcie was ordained June 26, 2016, at St. Peter's Cathedral in Helena.
